BUYER'S  SELLER'S

The index compares the rate of sales against available inventory. At 28 — unchanged from last month — 90404 condos read as a slight buyer's advantage, and inventory has risen to 35 active listings. The index has trended lower for several weeks while list price and price per square foot have held on a plateau. Thirty-seven percent of listings have cut price and 31% have relisted. If supply keeps outpacing demand, pricing is the next thing to move.

A NOTE FROM ANIA

Thank you for walking through today. The numbers on this page are the same ones we would put in front of you as a buyer or a seller. Santa Monica 90404 condos are giving buyers room — 35 active listings, a median list of $1.05M at $808 a square foot, and more than a third of sellers cutting price. For buyers, that means leverage on terms. For sellers, it means pricing right on day one matters more than it has in years. If you are curious what your own unit would bring today, stop us before you leave.
